Notes:

1. When a version of an OpenText product is released, it is considered to be under current maintenance for a period of 5 years from the version release date. Regarding product improvements which are available in later releases of TeleForm and which are considered to be new or improved functionality (incl. new MS Operating System and MS-SQL support) in the software no backward fixes are developed. Customer may be required to update or upgrade to a newer version.
2. When a product is considered to be under Sustaining Maintenance the core development team is redirected to other work and no new service packs and patches are release for general use.
